

While traveling our separated roads through life, we are also either road signs or pot holes on the roads of others.

—Eugene Martin